23 FEBRUARY 2015 | INSURANCE & HEALTH LAW

At Barry.Nilsson., we have the legal knowledge, and the medical and technical expertise, to handle any health-related matter.

Some of our lawyers have qualifications in science and other health-related disciplines, which gives them a deep understanding of these kinds of cases. Others have held in-house legal roles in major hospitals, which means they have experience assisting with a wide range of matters involving medical practitioners and allied health professionals.

Robert Samut, who leads our Health team, is highly regarded by clients for his creative and practical solutions to legal problems, and for his talents as a speaker and an educator.
