Alzena Ali is an associate in our Insurance & Health team and is based in the Hobart office.

She has a broad range of experience in general insurance and commercial litigation, including working on a variety of insolvency and debt recovery cases at the state and federal level.

Within her general work assisting with insurance cases, Alzena specialises in personal injury, CTP and professional negligence matters. She also advises on discrimination and employment disputes.

'I enjoy working in the insurance industry as you are required to deal with different factual situations that originate in a diverse range of industries, which means that every case is unique. My focus is always on achieving a pragmatic and efficient resolution of any claim that lands on my desk.'

Alzena has a Bachelor of Laws. She is a member of the Tasmanian Insolvency Discussion Group and Tasmanian Women Lawyers.
