Amelia Beveridge is an associate in our Family Law team and is based in our Melbourne office. She was admitted to practice in 2015.

Amelia practices exclusively in family law and has a special interest in property settlements involving third party creditors, and parenting disputes involving international relocation applications and child abduction matters. She works with a range of clients, from high net worth individuals to providing pro bono advice at legal clinics.

Amelia is a member of the Law Institute of Victoria and is on the Property & Maintenance, Courts Practice and Junior Family Lawyer Working Group committees. Amelia has contributed to the Australian Veterinary Association Journal and presented at the Australian Veterinary Association Annual Conference in 2015 regarding family violence and the family pet. Amelia has also contributed to the Australian Family Lawyer.
