Angela is a solicitor in our Real Estate & Commercial team. She joined Barry Nilsson in 2013 and is based in our Brisbane office.

"I value being part of a team of legal specialists who are committed to not only providing quality legal advice, but also fostering genuine relationships with their clients."

Prior to joining Barry Nilsson, Angela worked for a boutique property law firm and in the property law team of a national firm.

She provides advice on a broad range of matters including:

- property development
- commercial property transactions
- leasing and property work for major shopping centres
- general retail and commercial leasing.

Having advised on a number of large community title developments in the Brisbane CBD and large coastal resort developments in Queensland, Angela is well placed to provide her clients with a high level of property industry knowledge and a sophisticated approach to their project.
