Bryan is a solicitor in our Family Law team and is based in our Sydney office.

Prior to joining Barry.Nilsson., Bryan gained valuable experience as a paralegal at a generalist law firm, legal intern at a health promotion organisation, volunteer at a community legal centre and a social business, and intern at a top-tier professional services firm.

"The interplay between the various factors in clients' relationships and the parties' financial circumstances allow for each case to be dynamic. It is rewarding to have the opportunity to untangle the clients' complex issues revolving around their parenting and property/financial matters given that it affects their livelihood."

Bryan holds a Bachelor of Laws and a Bachelor of Business (Accounting). He is a member of the Law Society of New South Wales and the Family Law Section of the Law Council of Australia.
