Lily is an Associate in the Insurance & Health team and is based in our Sydney Office.

Lily has a background in professional indemnity, health law, civil and disciplinary proceedings, and has a particular interest in risk management. Lily specialises in:

- Professional Indemnity
- Health Law
- Regulation and disciplinary proceedings

Lily started her legal career in professional indemnity by assisting insured clients and health professionals, including migration agents, childcare centres, veterinary practitioners, medical practitioners, dentists, pharmacists and other allied health professionals, in defending litigated and disciplinary proceedings.

In pursuing her interest in health and regulation, Lily joined a state based regulator and was involved in the assessment, investigation and prosecution of complaints against registered and unregistered health practitioners and health facilities in NSW.

Lily was drawn to Barry Nilsson by the firm's positive culture and focus in providing creative and commercially sensible solutions to clients in the insurance and health space.

"I liked the idea of being part of a friendly and family focused firm, whilst being able to draw on my experience and interest in health law and regulation to help clients safeguard their position in regulatory processes and proceedings."

Lily holds a Bachelor of Laws and a Bachelor of Arts, and is a member of the Law Society of NSW.
