Suzannah is a solicitor in our Insurance and Health team based in our Sydney office.

Suzannah specialises in:

- Public liability
- Personal injury
- Property damage
- Historical child sexual abuse & redress matters

Suzannah has experience advising primarily in public liability and personal injury matters. She has specific experience in responding to historical child abuse claims, both litigated and through a restorative justice framework, concerning abuse dating from the 1950s through to the 1990s. Suzannah also has an intimate knowledge of the National Redress Scheme which she acquired while working collaboratively with the Department of Social Services and major faith-based organisations during its development.

Suzannah has strong case management skills and takes a proactive approach to her matters. She places a heavy focus on developing positive working relationships with clients, insureds, witnesses and other solicitors, which allows her to achieve fast and positive outcomes for her clients.

“Barry.Nilsson. is a progressive and fast-growing firm with an impressive team of lawyers. I really enjoy working at BN as it has both a high-performing and positive working environment.”

Prior to working for Barry.Nilsson. Suzannah worked for a social enterprise firm in litigation and commercial law.

Suzannah has a Bachelor of Laws and Economics from Macquarie University.
