

Property & Commercial Law

Are you looking for a legal team with experience in property and commercial law?

At Barry.Nilsson., we've built a team of highly skilled property and commercial lawyers who can help you achieve your business objectives cost-effectively.

Over the years, we've acted for some of Australia's major property owners and developers, which has enabled us to develop special expertise in:

- Retail shop leasing, management, sales and purchases
- Commercial property transactions
- Airport law

In fact, we have one of Queensland's most experienced teams specialising in the fields of shopping centre management and airport law.

How can we assist you?

We provide an end-to-end business advisory service that focuses on providing our clients with commercially realistic and pragmatic advice.

We're also very strategic in our approach and always look at the 'big picture'. In short, we use our legal analytical abilities, as well as our commercial acumen, both to understand our clients' objectives and to devise a clear plan for achieving them.

When necessary, we prepare bespoke documents for our clients. We understand that every transaction is unique, and that property and commercial matters often require more than a one-size-fits-all approach.

When working with clients, we:

- Investigate all the options and make practical recommendations so that the client can make the best decisions for the business environment in which they are operating

- Ensure that they understand which options are feasible and where they may need to compromise in order to get the desired commercial result
- Provide advice that fits into the bigger picture by working with other service providers to ensure that the strategy we've devised for the client's business is consistent and capable of being implemented
- Keep them updated on a regular basis
- Avoid expensive delays whenever possible.
